The bridge between Indonesia's dancefloors and Europe's.

DAYS is a Jakarta-based travel media company and cultural connector. We tell the stories of Europe's music scenes to Indonesian audiences, then take those audiences there, and open the door the other way for European artists, festivals and brands looking east.

2024	ID ⇄ EU	25–45	Media + travel
Founded in Jakarta	The corridor we work in	Culturally fluent, high-intent audience	Story first, then the trip

WHAT WE DO

Travel media

Editorial and social content on Europe's festivals, clubs and city scenes, written for Indonesian readers: who's playing, why it matters, how to get there from Jakarta.

Curated music travel

Named, end-to-end trips built around one moment: Dekmantel in August, Primavera in May, Glastonbury in June, ADE in October. We handle the logistics so our travellers can be fully present.

Global connector

Partnerships, introductions and market entry between Indonesian and European promoters, festivals, venues, artists and brands.

WHY IT MATTERS TO THE MUSIC INDUSTRY

Southeast Asia is one of the fastest-growing audiences for electronic music, and Indonesia, with 280 million people and one of the youngest populations in the region, is its biggest. A new generation of Indonesian fans already follows European lineups in real time. They don't need persuading; they need a trusted route in.

For European festivals and artists, DAYS is a way to reach that audience with context and credibility rather than paid ads. For Indonesian fans and scenes, we're the friend who has already been, knows the right stage, and makes the introduction.

We sell trust before we sell trips.

OPEN TO AT ADE

Festivals and promoters who want Southeast Asian audiences · artists and agencies planning Asia tours · brands and tourism boards building the Indonesia–Europe link · media and content partnerships.

DAYS · PT Vakansi Media Global · Tebet, South Jakarta

talkaboutdays.com · daysforward.id@gmail.com · +62 812-2000-0185

We don't throw parties. We build scenes.

Tripo is an award-winning partymaker from [city]. Since [year], it has grown a dedicated community around the dancefloor: a crowd that comes back for each other as much as for the lineup.

[Award]	[00]+	[00k]	[00]
[Awarding body, year]	Events produced	Community reach	Artists hosted

HOW TRIPO BUILDS A SCENE

Community before capacity

We grow the room slowly and on purpose. Regulars are the culture; every new face comes in through them.

Curation with a point of view

Local selectors next to international guests, so the scene has a sound of its own instead of borrowing one.

A safe, open floor

Clear door policy, care for the crowd and space for people who don't always feel welcome in nightlife.

Beyond the night

Group chats, listening sessions, workshops and collaborations that keep the community alive between parties.

RECOGNITION

[Award name], [awarding body, year], recognised Tripo for [reason, e.g. best party concept / best newcomer].

[Optional second award, press quote or notable booking]

SELECTED MOMENTS

- [Signature event or series name, venue]
- [Notable headliner or collaboration]
- [Milestone, e.g. first sold-out show, first festival stage]

SABRINA'S ROLE

As community manager, Sabrina looks after the people behind the numbers: the regulars, the newcomers, the artists and the partners who make a party into a scene.

OPEN TO AT ADE

Artist and label collaborations · cross-city party exchanges · brand partners who care about community, not just reach · venues and festivals looking for a curated stage.

Sabrina [Surname]

Founder, DAYS · Community Manager, Tripo · Jakarta ⇄ Europe

BIO

Sabrina works where music, travel and community meet, as the founder of DAYS, a Jakarta-based travel media company that connects Indonesia's music lovers with Europe's festivals and club culture, telling the stories of those scenes and then taking people there.

Sabrina is also community manager at Tripo, the award-winning partymaker, looking after the crowd, artists and partners that turn a series of parties into a scene.

Between the two, Sabrina has a rare view of both sides of the dancefloor: how a local scene is built from the ground up, and how a new generation of Southeast Asian fans is crossing continents for the music they love. Through DAYS, the goal is to make the Indonesia–Europe link a two-way street for artists, promoters and audiences.

SHORT BIO (50 WORDS)

Sabrina is the founder of DAYS, a Jakarta-based travel media company connecting Indonesian music fans with Europe's festivals and clubs, and community manager at award-winning partymaker Tripo. Sabrina works on how scenes are built locally and how Southeast Asia's new generation of fans is reshaping global dancefloors.

EXPERTISE

- Community building for nightlife and festivals
- Southeast Asian music audiences and travel behaviour
- Indonesia–Europe cultural and business exchange
- Music tourism and destination storytelling
- Founding and growing a culture-led brand

SPEAKS ON

Panels, fireside chats and short keynotes. English and Bahasa Indonesia.

CONTACT

Email	daysforward.id@gmail.com
Phone	+62 812-2000-0185
Web	talkaboutdays.com
Instagram	[@handle]
LinkedIn	[link]

PROPOSED TALKS

01

The Long-Haul Raver

Why Southeast Asian fans now fly halfway round the world for a lineup, what they expect when they land, and what European festivals miss about them.

02

Scenes Aren't Booked, They're Built

Lessons from Tripo on growing a loyal crowd: community first, capacity second, and keeping it alive between parties.

03

Jakarta ⇄ Amsterdam

Building a two-way corridor for artists, promoters and audiences between Indonesia and Europe, beyond one-off bookings.